About Dalhousie University Dalhousie University is Atlantic Canada's leading research-intensive university and a driver of the region's intellectual, social and economic development. Located in the heart of Halifax, Nova Scotia, with an Agricultural Campus in Truro/Bible Hill, Dalhousie is a truly national and international university, with more than half of our 19,000 students coming from outside of the province. Our 6,000 faculty and staff foster a vibrant, purpose-driven community, that celebrated 200 years of academic excellence in 2018.

Job Summary The Centre for Learning and Teaching (CLT) works in partnership with academic units, faculty members, and graduate students to enhance the practice and scholarship of learning and teaching at Dalhousie. Reporting to the Director, CLT, the Educational Development (Student Development) will support the programming and development work of CLT focused on enhancing students' teaching development, strengthening the students-as-partners initiatives in teaching, learning and curriculum development.

Key Responsibilities

- Coordinate the design and facilitation of formal Centre programming for graduate students and teaching assistants (the EDC-Accredited TA Enrichment Program and the Certificate on University Teaching and Learning).
- Support student development programming related to students-as-partners in teaching, learning and curriculum development.
- Design and facilitate developmental programming on teaching and learning in higher education for postdoctoral fellows, graduate students, and teaching assistants from conception to evaluation and follow-up.
- Work directly with graduate students, faculty and academic units to support educational innovation and change, leading and contributing to specialized educational development activities, workshops and conferences particularly aimed at faculty, part-time academics, and graduate students.

- Conduct confidential consultations with individual faculty with a view to improving the quality of teaching and learning.
- Engage individually and collaboratively on research related to educational development and higher education teaching and learning.

Note Please submit a letter of interest with your CV outlining how your work experience and interests align with the position.

Qualifications Masters degree in a relevant field, plus a minimum of two to five years' experience in educational development in higher education (or an equivalent combination of related training and experience). Preference will be given to candidates with a relevant doctoral degree. Demonstrated engagement in scholarship related to educational development and teaching and learning in higher education (through publications and presentations). Demonstrated knowledge of and engagement in students' teaching development with a focus on graduate students and teaching assistants.

Job Competencies The successful candidate is expected to demonstrate proficiency in Dalhousie's core and leadership competencies (<https://www.dal.ca/dept/leaders.html>), in particular:

- Self-Awareness & Professionalism
- Respect & Inclusion
- Knowledge & Thinking Skills
- Service
- Relationship Building

Additional Information Dalhousie University supports a healthy and balanced lifestyle. Our total compensation package includes a defined benefit pension plan, health and dental plans, a health spending account, an employee and family assistance program and a tuition assistance program.

Application Consideration Applications from university employees and external candidates are given concurrent consideration. Among short-listed candidates, university employees will be given special consideration.

We thank all applicants for their interest, however, only candidates selected for an interview will be contacted.

Diversity Statement Dalhousie University is committed to fostering a collegial culture grounded in diversity and inclusiveness. The university encourages applications from Indigenous persons, persons with a disability, racially visible persons, women, persons of a minority sexual orientation and/or gender identity, and all candidates who would contribute to the diversity of our community.
